Dear Friends:

Welcome to our inaugural "A Night in Fashion-Russia Style" benefiting the Russian Children's Welfare Society. Thank you for joining us as we celebrate art, fashion and beauty. The goal is to raise awareness of one of our key initiatives: "Let's Give Beauty Back to the Children". RCWS's project was established in 2007 and delivers innovative medical treatment for children with severe facial deformities at the Moscow Center for Maxillofacial Surgery. All of the proceeds from this evening's Gala will be directed towards this project.

The Russian Children's Welfare Society (RCWS) was founded in 1926 by eight Russian émigrés motivated by the common goal of improving the lives of Russian children. Currently, RCWS exclusively assists children at risk in Russia, from Pskov to Irkutsk, by funding orphanages, hospitals, educational scholarships for orphans, rehabilitation centers for disabled children, homeless shelters and schools. RCWS is committed to help orphaned children avoid an ominous fate and to instill hope for a better future.

It is important that we continue to raise awareness and enthusiasm surrounding our organization. We welcome all new RCWS supporters and thank those of you who have continually helped us through both prosperous and economically difficult times. It is thanks to you that we can grow as an organization and scale our initiatives accordingly. We will continue to reach out to you and hope to see you at next year's 45th Annual Petroushka Ball on January 29, 2010 at the Waldorf Astoria.

On behalf of thousands of less-fortunate children in Russia, the Russian Children's Welfare Society would like to thank you for your time, support, enthusiasm and generosity.

Sincerely,

Vladimir P. Fekula

Patients at the Moscow Center for Maxillofacial Surgery

In Russia, each year over 30,000 children are born with facial deformities or abnormalities of the skull. Another 20,000 children experience such defects due to trauma or illnesses developed after birth. Due to the financial burden ($2,500- $5,000 USD per operation) and the lack of specialized doctors, most children with such disfigurements are left untreated. The unsightly appearance of children with maxillofacial problems causes various maladaptive behaviors. Children are ostracized socially and within their own families. As many as 10% of affected Russian children are abandoned by their parents and placed in state orphanages.

The Russian Children's Welfare Society is now working with the Kommersant's Russian Aid Foundation on a project entitled "Let's Give Beauty Back to the Children" to raise required funds for the Moscow Center for Maxillofacial Surgery to treat children with facial deformities. RCWS provided $60,000 in 2007 and $120,000 in 2008 for this project, allocating up to $1,250 per operation. To date, we have helped nearly 300 children with facial deformities escape a future marked by cruelty and isolation. It is our firm belief that no child should ever be subject to such a horrific fate. We are committed to help these children receive vital medical care across Russia. These operations have significantly changed the lives of wonderful children and have given them the confidence they so desperately need and deserve.

Thank you for attending tonight's event and for supporting this worthwhile cause.
